ASST. MANAGER OF ASSOCIATION MEETS PRIZERS

Discusses Methods to be Used and Demands Honest Packing.

First Offering of Tobacco Next Week.

EXPECTED TO SELL FAST

Instructions were given the prizers of tobacco of the Dark Tobacco Growers' association this morning of Hurlburt, Marshall and McCracken counties by W. C. Frazier, assistant general manager of the association, and John D. Seales, auditor of the association. The prizers from the three counties met at the sales rooms of A. N. Veal, local subagent, 120 Broadway.

Mr. Frazier's talk was along the line of uniform and honest pricing of tobacco. "You prizers are the key-stone to the success of the association," was one of his ringing remarks, and throughout he argued for honesty and uprightness in the pricing. Mr. Frazier said the pricing of the association had been successful, but the officers are after still a higher grade, and firmly opposed to the pricing a low grade of tobacco with the good tobacco, and representing the tobacco of a higher grade.

His remarks were received enthusiastically by the prizers.

Mr. Seales, the auditor of the association, spoke to the prizers on the manner of keeping their books, and pointed out many improvements, for this year. The books for the 1907 crop were distributed to the prizers and are to be returned to the association at the end of the season.

Representatives of the following pricing firms were in attendance: Mike & Cook, Calvert City; Graham & Veal, City; Hall-Anderson, City; Thomas Frazier, La Center; Linn Tucker, Harlow; Samuel Ware, Kevil; J. H. Mason, Sharp; Griffith & Black, Benton; W. S. Griffith, Benton; J. H. Custerman & company, Maxon Mills; Wood & Cole, Benton. Monday Messrs. Frazier and Seales will meet the prizers of Graves county at Mayfield, and will finish their work Wednesday and will be in Paducah Thursday en route back to Guthrie, the headquarters of the association.

The first sales of the association tobacco crop of 1907 will be held Monday by A. N. Veal, local salesman.

Excellent sales are expected and the first sales is expected to be a boomer. The grades have been received of the tobacco that has been passed on by the graders, who were in session at Guthrie this week.

Paducah has the grip, or the grip has Paducah. It is just as one wishes to frame it up. A prominent physician said this morning that probably 50 per cent of the people in the city have the disease, and while its form is not dangerous, it lays its victim up for several days.

"Publish my statement," added this physician, "and the other 50 per cent of our people, or a great proportion of them will also have the affliction, for it is my experience that when one reads of an epidemic of any sort he immediately is seized by his doctor, or thinks he is. Of course, it makes business for his doctors, and as we have had a dull period for some time, probably it is all right."

LITTLE CHILD FALLS IN FIRE BADLY BURNED

Lone Oak, Jan. 25.—(Special.)—While unwatched the six-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson, of near Massie, fell from a large rocking chair, where she had been placed by her mother a few minutes before and buried her face in the hot embers of a fire in the fireplace. The mother was summoned in a minute by the crying of the child, which was badly burned about the face. Dr. R. C. Gore was called and administered soothing treatments, but the baby's condition is critical yet. Today the child was resting well, and it is hoped the little one will recover.

TROUBLES COME IN BUNCHES TO HUGH BOYLE

Soon after Hugh Boyle posted his "for sale" sign in front of his place on Fourth street yesterday, the sheriff came along and took from Boyle's hands the privilege of selling the outfit by attaching the stock and fixtures on an order secured by the American German National bank which holds his paper for $2,000. The notes are endorsed by Thompson Wilson & Co., and a quantity of whiskey in the store rooms of that company was also attached.

COUNTY SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS NEXT WEEK

An examination will be held at Lone Oak and Grahamville next Friday and Saturday by Supt. Hillington and County Examiner M. V. Miller, for the benefit of the pupils who care to try for county school diplomas.

The superintendent expects about eight or ten pupils will take the present examinations and if successful they will be entitled to enter one of the state normal universities if appointments are secured.

Many of the schools will not close until after the examination is held and another has been arranged to be held in the month of May at which time about twenty-five are expected to apply.

BECKHAM OR STATE PROHIBITION IS STRAIGHT TIP FROM FRANKFORT

Thwarted in Effort to Win
Senatorship Will Combine
For State Wide Prohibition.

Frankfort, Jan. 25.—(Special.)—Kentucky will have Beckham or state prohibition. This is the latest tip, and seemingly a straight one, too. Beckham has finally come to the conclusion that the jig is up, as far as the senatorship is concerned for him, and now he is busy seeking to avenge himself on the men responsible for the denial of his greatest ambition.

In the past few days efforts have been made by Democrat and Republican to get the Democrats to drop Beckham and form a coalition with the Republicans to send Wheeler Campbell to the senate, and for a few brief moments Campbell indulged in the dream, but it was quickly dissipated when overtures were made to the Republicans. The reply was: "It we are to have any Democrat, let it be Beckham."

Beckham has made advances to the Republicans, too, but his efforts have not been successful. He proposes now to line his friends up for a state unit bill and has secured the pledges of enough Republicans to its support to insure its passage and also its passage over a probable veto of the governor.

The recommendation of the finance committee of the general council shows a saving of $10,000 has been made in the apportionments for the different departments of the city for the year, the reduction being made in the anticipation that the amount of revenues collected this year will show but a slight decrease over last year's assessment while an indebtedness of $10,000 handed to the present administration by its predecessor must be met and reduced.

Through an agreement effected with the management of the water company a reduction of $10 per year on 150 fire plugs will be made, while the appropriation for streets gets a reduction of from $33,000 to $20,000, which is considered sufficient to keep the streets in good condition this year as the amount appropriated for that department last year was sufficient to enable the department to put the streets in good condition, though an appropriation of $40,000 was asked for.

Acting upon the advice of the city solicitor the finance committee did not recommend that an extra assessment of 10 cents on the $100 be levied for the schools and the appropriation of $52,000 asked for was cut to $33,000, the amount allowed last year.

The park appropriation also suffers a reduction of from $5,000 to $3,000 and the only funds that were increased to any great extent were the hospital and cemetery, which were given an additional sum for urgent improvements.

The administration expects to be able to take care of half of the $40,000 indebtedness inherited from the old administration without an increase in the tax rate and to do this they must make out with a total amount of $60,000 less than was expended in 1907.

BECKHAM OR STATE PROHIBITION IS STRAIGHT TIP FROM FRANKFORT

Judge Holt has assisted in drawing the bill and it will be presented in a few days—probably today.

The state unit bill means that the entire state will vote on the prohibition question and from present indications it will come near carrying. This would mean, of course, prohibition in Louisville and a jolt to the Louisville interests who have waged such bitter warfare on Beckham.

The prohibition people are enthusiastic over the prospects. For some time they have been expecting just such a turn of affairs, and from indications it seems Kentucky will follow in the footsteps of the other southern states and soon be dry from border to border.

ELKS DONATE CAR OF COAL FOR CHARITY

Liberal Donation is Made by Fraternal Order at Most Opportune Time.

Charity Club Has Distributed
3,000 Bushels This Winter.

DEMAND EXCEEDS LAST SEASON

A donation of 1,000 bushels of coal has been made to the charity club for distribution among the poor of the city by the Paducah lodge of Elks, Exalted Ruler J. T. Donovan notifying Secretary Jap Toner this morning that the coal was at the disposal of the club.

Mr. Toner stated this morning that the gift came at a most opportune time as the supply of fuel now on hand would be exhausted before next week is gone and the time for real winter is now at hand.

Since the first of September the club has given out nearly 3,000 bushels of coal. One carload of 1,100 bushels was presented to the club by the Illinois Central Railway company through the kindly offices of J. T. Donovan. The annual gift to the city which for years has been made by Bernheim Bros., of Louisville, this year amounted to 1,200 bushels, most of which has already been distributed. Aside from these two large gifts the Charity club has purchased nearly 700 bushels from local dealers, making the aggregate nearly 3,000 bushels, which is nearly as much as was given out during the entire winter season last year.

The Charity club also desires to acknowledge gifts of clothing from the following named ladies: Mrs. E. C. Adams, 1019 Harrison street; Mrs. Kenney, 423 Adams street; Mrs. Hurst, corner Twentieth and Broadway; Mrs. Frank Smith, 503 North Fourth street; Mrs. Reed, 803 South Fourth street; Mrs. S. Polz, North Fourth street.

A check has been received by the club from P. P. Toof, superintendent of the Cohankus Manufacturing company, for $25 this week, and the sum will come in handy for the expenses.

FORCE INCREASED AT LANGSTAFF-ORME MILLS

The Langstaff-Orme Manufacturing company yesterday put on more men at its plant on South Second street, indicating that business in building lines shows improvement. The Langstaff is one plant that did not shut down during the financial stringency. It reduced its hours some, and laid off a few hands, but it gradually worked back to normal conditions again.

Association Prizer Whipped by Mob For Alleged Buying Tobacco For Trust on Side.

John Heath Severely Dealt
With by Mob at Dawson Springs Last Night—Town
is Quiet Today.

Dawson Springs, Jan. 25.—(Special.)—Dawson Springs had its night rider visitation last night, and quite a fright in connection with it, too. John Heath, of Hopkinsville, has been putting up tobacco here for the association, but a few days ago a rumor was circulated that he was also buying tobacco on the side, for the trust, and last night's visit was a result.

About fifty men came into town about 12:30 this morning, and went to the Areadia, where Heath is boarding, and asked for Mr. Holman, the proprietor, who, however, was over in Madisonville. They then called Mrs. Holman and asked for Heath, but she replied that he was not there. Not believing what she said, they went through the building calling for Heath and he answered. They then took him across the river and gave him a thrashing, turned him loose and departed with a great deal of gun play and shouting. Heath is not much the worse for his experience.

When the visit of the night riders first became known the inhabitants of the town thought they had come to frighten the negroes from the town, as ten days ago most all of the negroes residing here received warnings to vacate, which most of them were not slow to heed. However, no one but Heath was molested. The mob did fire a good many shots into the Areadia and also a great many in the streets, but aside from this did no damage, in fact announced that they had come for nothing but to thrash Heath.

There is a great deal of tobacco in storage here, but it is all association property.

The news of the visitation was received in Paducah early this morning and was brought by freight crews coming through the town early this morning. As all reports of such nature are, it was greatly exaggerated. Inquiries were first made of the clerk at the New Century hotel, but he evidently was intimidated by the visit, as he absolutely refused to give out any information.

Negroes Had Been Warned.
Mr. A. C. Russell, manager of the Hamby hotel at Dawson, while in the city today called at the Sun office to inquire of the trouble at Dawson and said that a few weeks ago the hotel proprietors had been notified that they must discharge their negro employees, but that the warning had been ignored and from the reports circulated early this morning Mr. Russell thought perhaps the threats against the negroes had been carried out.

Mr. Russell said that the threats were not made by night riders but by an element of irresponsible white people in Dawson. The hotel employees are all quiet and industrious and many of them have been with their employers for years. Mr. Russell said that the parties making the threats are known and many of them have become alarmed themselves and left the country.

Farrier Gives Bond.
Frank Farrier, of Hickman, charged with bootlegging, was dismissed yesterday afternoon by United States Commissioner Armour Gardner. Farrier was arrested on a warrant charging bootlegging, and this was dismissed, but he was indicted at the last session of the grand jury, on the same charge and was arrested by Marshal Elwood Neel again. Farrier gave bond for his appearance for trial.

EMIGRATION IS PROHIBITED BY IMPERIAL ORDER

SOUTHERN ELECTRIC FILES MORTGAGE TO SECURE BONDS

A mortgage to secure an issue of bonds amounting to $2,000,000 was filed in the office of the county clerk today by the Paducah Southern Electric Railroad company to the Wisdom Trust company of New York.

The bonds are for the purpose of securing funds to build and place in operation an interurban electric line from Paducah to Mayfield, for which surveys of different routes are being made and as soon as a desirable route has been decided upon construction work will be begun and the project pushed to completion.

A like mortgage has already been filed in Graves county and with the filing of the papers here the Trust company is empowered to at once secure the funds for the purposes named in the mortgage.

A survey is also being made in Mayfield for a street railway for that place which will be controlled by the same company.

JOHN B. LARKIN DIES IN PITTSBURG

News was received yesterday by Misses Ella and Annie Larkin, 409 South Sixth street, of the death of their cousin, Mr. John B. Larkin, city controller of Pittsburgh. He was twice elected city controller and in a few months would have been certain for re-election. He was the only Democrat officeholder in Pittsburgh. Under Cleveland's reign Mr. Larkin was postmaster of Pittsburgh. He was a man much interested in charity and kept a home for orphans. He was a staunch member of the Catholic church.

DAIRIES MORE SANITARY THAN EVER BEFORE

Report of Meat and Milk Inspector Shows City's Milk Supply Pure.

Pure Food Commissioner Says
Market Best in State.

SUGGESTS CATTLE INSPECTOR

Much better conditions exist in the dairies that furnish milk to the city than last year, due to the efforts put forth by Dr. Ed P. Farley, milk, meat and livestock inspector, as shown by his annual report which was completed today. Dr. Farley has been a careful officer and Mr. R. M. Allen, chief of the pure food division of the state experiment station, has paid Dr. Farley many compliments, and says Paducah has one of the finest markets in the state. What Dr. Farley has accomplished has come through his own efforts.

In his report Dr. Farley calls the attention of the board to the danger of tuberculosis in the cattle that is offered for sale and from which the milk is supplied. Alderman Stewart realized the danger last summer and brought the matter before the board, but it died in the hands of some committee. No legislation has been passed by the city for the controlling of the "white plague" which is being fought in the cities so bitterly, and for the suppression of the disease. Dr. Farley inspects all live stock as far as possible, but the duties of the office are so many that much of the live cattle is slaughtered unsupervised. All the meat that is offered for sale is inspected every morning on the market by Dr. Farley, but the tuberculosis test can not be used to much benefit on the meat, and the board's attention is called to this necessity of inspecting live stock.

Dairies have been made sanitary, and the improvement along this line is a much marked improvement. The dealers seem to realize the necessity of cleanliness and obey the orders of Dr. Farley with willingness. Of the tests of milk there is only one dealer with his milk at the minimum, which is 3 per cent. One dairy has a per cent of 5 in fats, and is the highest reached, but the majority of the dealers are over 4 per cent.

Attention is called to the board of the unsanitary condition of the cold storage house, and the need of a modern place is emphasized. Especially is the floor of the building in poor condition.

The market house is in good condition and a decrease in the amount of meat that Dr. Farley had to refuse the dealers the privilege of selling. The dealers have realized the strictness of the office, and little unfit meat is placed for inspection knowingly.

Heywoods, of Washington, one of the attorney generals of the United States, will have charge of the hearing for the government.

DINNER TO PASTOR DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

Methodist Men and Invited Guests Meet Dr. Sullivan.

Many Happy Toasts Given and Mayor
Smith Responds to One Characteristically.

RAMSEY SOCIETY IS HOSTESS.

Delightful in all its appointments and details was the banquet last night in the parlors of the Broadway Methodist church, given in compliment to the pastor, the Rev. G. T. Sullivan. It was a stag affair, the men members of the church, the ministers of the city and Mayor James P. Smith being invited to meet Dr. Sullivan by the ladies of the Ramsey society, who were the hostesses of the evening, receiving in the lecture room downstairs, introducing Dr. Sullivan and the guests, and later serving the tables.

The tables were arranged upstairs in the League parlors, and were four in number extending lengthwise of the double rooms where ferns and calla lily plants were arranged. The tables were attractively decorated with carnations and ferns. Two tall vases of red and white carnations and two bowls of ferns were effectively arranged on each table. The flowers were presented by Messrs. Schmaus Bros. and C. L. Brunson & company, the florists. Dr. Sullivan occupied the place of the host at the head of the table with Mayor Smith on his right hand and Dr. W. E. Cave, of the First Presbyterian church, on his left. The dinner was an elaborate and delightful course affair, attractively served and lasting from 6:30 until 9 o'clock. Toasts were the concluding feature. Dr. Sullivan acted as toast master, making an opening speech. The first response was by Mayor Smith, who made a happy little speech, alive with humor. Clever speeches were made by the Rev. W. E. Cave, Rev. David C. Wright, Rev. William E. Bourquin, Rev. G. W. Banks, Rev. S. B. Moore, of the ministers of the city. Dr. Vernon H. H. Berry for the press. Mr. Berry also presented a graceful resolution of thanks to the Ramsey society, "the skillful and willing hands that had served them," which Mr. William C. Leach moved should be adopted unanimously. The entire occasion sparkled with the spirit of good comradeship and good cheer. There were over 100 guests present.

BUSINESS IMPROVES

MORE FREIGHT MOVING OVER
ILLINOIS CENTRAL ROAD.

Shops Again Closed Down Today,
But Lots of Work is on Hand.

During this week the yards have been crowded more than since business began to decline in the fall. Long freight trains have been on the tracks at the Union station, and leaving only one track for the passenger trains. Business is picking up, and the men expect few more lay offs.

Everything was quiet this morning about the Illinois Central shops, although an occasional squad was seen working on some work that was needed in haste. Today there have been more men working than any of the other days during the shutdown. The demand is greater, and in all departments but the car departments a number of men were working. The round house was the busiest spot about the shops, and several of the big engines were ready to leave.

The woods are full of hunters today, and the bang of guns was heard in the fields too. Many of the shopmen are good nimrods, and every Saturday since the shutdown, they have shouldered their guns and started after rabbits. S. B. Whitner, William Morgan, John Ford and James Ford and others went up on the Fulton accommodation this morning. Others will be in the fields around Paducah until late this afternoon.

THE WHITTIER

TODAY BEING PREPARED FOR NEXT SEMESTER.

Building Has Been Inspected and Received and Teachers to be Placed Now.

Smoke was issuing from the chimneys of the "Whittier" and the Jackson street buildings this morning, and preparations for the pupils' next semester were in full blast. Fred Hoyer, superintendent of buildings, has the janitors at work cleaning the buildings of the rubbish left by the carpenters, and fire is kept in the furnaces to test them thoroughly, and to dry out the buildings perfectly.

All the sanitary work on the buildings has been inspected by the sanitary committee of the school board, and it has been accepted. About all that remains to be done is the placing of the teachers at the new buildings, and this will be completed soon by Superintendent Carnegie, and the committee on the course of study of the board.

ORDER REVOKED

EVICTING ITALIANS FROM ILLINOIS MINING DISTRICT.

Bush, Ill., Jan. 25.—Though a clash has not yet occurred between the several hundred Italian miners and the authorities, there remains great danger and the situation today is being closely watched.

The Western Coal Mining company revoked its order and will not attempt to evict Italians from company houses until the excitement has somewhat subsided.

American union miners have refused to displace the Italians, it is said.

The affair has taken on more of the aspects of a race war than before. Arms are being kept handy on both sides.

The Southern Illinois operators' meeting in Carbondale, Saturday, practically means a shut down of all mines south of Springfield. Notices calling the meeting were sent out today by J. D. Peters, of Herrin.

The nurses compose the legislative committee of the State Association of Graduate Nurses. They are Miss Mary Jett, of this city; Miss Annie E. Reese, of Louisville, and Mrs. T. J. Telford, of Louisville. They proved powerful workers for their bill and believe that it will pass when it comes up in the senate. Many of the members agree that the bill is a meritorious one and should pass.

BUSINESS IMPROVES

MORE FREIGHT MOVING OVER ILLINOIS CENTRAL ROAD.

Shops Again Closed Down Today. But Lots of Work Is On Hand.

During this week the yards have been crowded more than since business began to decline in the fall. Long freight trains have been on the tracks at the Union station, and leaving only one track for the passenger trains. Business is picking up, and the men expect few more lay offs.

Everything was quiet this morning about the Illinois Central shops, although an occasional squad was seen working on some work that was needed in haste. Today there have been more men working than any of the other days during the shutdown. The demand is greater, and in all departments but the car departments a number of men were working. DINNER TO PASTOR DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

Methodist Men and Invited Guests Meet Dr. Sullivan.

Many Happy Toasts Given and Mayor Smith Responds to One Characteristically.

RAMSEY SOCIETY IS HOSTESS.

Delightful in all its appointments and details was the banquet last night in the parlors of the Broadway Methodist church, given in compliment to the pastor, the Rev. G. T. Sullivan. It was a stag affair, the men members of the church, the ministers of the city and Mayor James P. Smith being invited to meet Dr. Sullivan by the ladies of the Ramsey society, who were the hostesses of the evening, receiving in the lecture room downstairs, introducing Dr. Sullivan and the guests, and later serving the tables.

The tables were arranged upstairs in the League parlors, and were four in number extending lengthwise of the double rooms where ferns and calla lily plants were arranged. The tables were attractively decorated with carnations and ferns. Two tall vases of red and white carnations and two bowls of ferns were effectively arranged on each table. The flowers were presented by Messrs. Schmaus Bros. and C. L. Brunson & company, the florists. Dr. Sullivan occupied the place of the host at the head of the table with Mayor Smith on his right hand and Dr. W. E. Cave, of the First Presbyterian church, on his left. The dinner was an elaborate and delightful course affair, attractively served and lasting from 6:30 until 9 o'clock. Toasts were the concluding feature. Dr. Sullivan acted as toast master, making an opening speech. The first response was by Mayor Smith, who made a happy little speech, alive with humor. Clever speeches were made by the Rev. W. E. Cave, Rev. David C. Wright, Rev. William E. Bourquin, Rev. G. W. Banks, Rev. S. B. Moore, of the ministers of the city. Dr. Vernon Hlythe spoke for the laymen and Mr. John J. Berry for the press. Mr. Berry also presented a graceful resolution of thanks to the Ramsey society, "the skillful and willing hands that had served them," which Mr. William C. Leach moved should be adopted unanimously. The entire occasion sparkled with the spirit of good comradeship and good cheer. There were over 100 guests present.

rd is said to be one of the few artists who possesses an admirly developed technique as well as a thoroughly musical soul and does not allow the technique to predominate at the cost of the soul. Music is a passion with Skovgaard. Gifted with a poetic temperament and intellectual personality he possesses the rare gifts of depth of comprehension and delicacy of coloring. With such masterpieces as the Brahms Concerto, the Beethoven Kreutzer Sonata and Mendelsohn's Concerto, he has won distinction of the highest order.

He is the master of the violin and his instrument is famous enough of itself to attract many to see and hear.
There were no master hand to play it Skovgaard's violin. The varnish is as bright and polished as if applied by the hands of its skillful maker but yesterday, and yet it is one of the oldest, as well as the most expensive violins in existence. Stradivarius, who made the violin in 1712 in memory of his deceased son, retained it until his death, but never put strings on it. His sons, Francesco and Omobono, later sold the violin to Luigi Tartile, a dealer, who sold it to a Spanish museum, where it remained for generations. In 1897 the violin was rescued, unharmed, from the museum, which was destroyed by fire,
and placed in the hands of a London
dealer from whom, after tedious negotiations, Mr. Skovgaard purchased the instrument for $13,000. He is, therefore, the only person who has played on this wonderful violin. It is the tallest man beyond value which has brought his playing to its present standard. The instrument is the best preserved specimen of Stradivarius art.

For Coughs

Never write to ask your doctor about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It is a regular medicine, a doctor's medicine.

It would be very interesting to know how many years your family physician has prescribed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for coughs, colds, and all forms of lung troubles. Ask him the next time you see him. We know physicians who have used it for over half a century.

The Week In Society.

TODAY AND TOMORROW.

Ever and over the days go by,
We laugh and we weep them through;
Tomorrow we have for our work and Tomorrow our dreams come true!
We hold them tight and we let them
We lose them into the past!
"Tomorrow—tomorrow!" we cry, nor
That day slips by so fast.

For what is today but a leaden thing
That fetters when we would fly,
Holding us back from the hidden
Where wonderful sweet things lie?

And even though today be glad of
And brings us a song to sing,
Never play since the world began
Know what tomorrow may bring!

All of our hopes and all of our
And all of the sweet, slight things
That today would crush, we shall find
When tomorrow has spread her Wings!

Ever and over—O dull today!
When will you claim your due?
When our hopes and dreams and our Heart's desire
Lie dead in the past, with you?

Alma's.

Paducah Old Wives Laurels in Canada.

Lillian Lancaster (Flora May Clark Young), the talented Paducah girl who has made good in the stage world, is now in Canada with the "Custer's Last Fight" company, in which she plays the ingenue role. The Toronto Globe has the following pleasant notice of her:

"To Lillian Lancaster, who appears as Louise Ramsey, many flowery favors are due. She is one of the most winsome actresses who has graced any company on the local boards. Her histrionic ability and her beauty match. That she will be heard from in more pretentious roles seems a prophecy likely of fulfillment. She won her audience last night with a pretty, refined manner."

The company will close in two weeks and Mrs. Young will come to Paducah to spend the remainder of the winter with her mother, Mrs. S. H. Clark, 901 Clay street.

Pretty Evening Card Party.

Mr. Clyde Warren was the host of a pleasantly informal card party Friday night at his home on Jefferson street. The girls' prize was taken by Miss Helen Van Meter and Mr. Will Powell captured the boys' honors. Pretty refreshments of ices and cakes in the pink and white color motif were served after the game. There were five tables of guests at cards.

Skovgaard and His Famous Violin.

On Tuesday evening the Woman's club of Paducah will present the Skovgaard Concert company at the Kentucky theater as the last of their winter series of artistic entertainments. It will be a rare musical event and the audience promises to be a representative one in sympathy with the occasion. Paducah audiences have made a distinct step forward and upward in musical appreciation during the past two years. The Matinee Musical club, the Crescendo club and the Woman's club have done much to effect this in the really fine class of musical artists they have introduced here. A bright woman said after the Alumnal concert last week: "There was not a single rag-time piece played or sung and yet every number was enjoyed! We are becoming really appreciative of good music here. The musical clubs of Paducah have really been immense educational factors."

Skovgaard is said to be one of the few artists who possesses an admirably developed technique as well as a thoroughly musical soul and does not allow the technique to predominate at the cost of the soul. Music is a passion with Skovgaard. Gifted with a poetic temperament and intellectual personality he possesses the rare gifts of depth of comprehension and mastery of coloring. With such masterpieces as the Brahms Concerto, the Beethoven Kreutzer Sonata and Mendelssohn's Concerto, he has won distinction of the highest order.

He is the master of the violin and his instrument is famous enough of itself to attract many to see and hear. There were no master hand to play it. Skovgaard's violin was made by Antonius Stradivarius. The varnish is as bright and polished as if applied by the hands of his skillful maker but yesterday, and yet it is one of the oldest, as well as the most expensive violins in existence. Stradivarius, who made the violin in 1712 in memory of his deceased son, retained it until his death, but never put strings on it. His sons, Francesco and Omobono, later sold the violin to Luigi Tarisio, a dealer, who sold it to a Spanish museum, where it remained for generations. In 1897 the violin was rescued, unharmed, from the museum, which was destroyed by fire, and placed in the hands of a London dealer from whom, after tedious negotiations, Mr. Skovgaard purchased the instrument for $13,000. He is, therefore, the only person who has played on this wonderful violin. It is the talkman beyond value which has brought his playing to its present standard. The instrument is the best preserved specimen of Stradivarius' art.

Informal Evening Card Party.

Complimentary to Mrs. Harry Minty, of Hopkinsville, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Hradshaw, Jr., entertained informally at cards on Monday evening at their attractive home in the West End. An attractive two course luncheon was served. The five tables of guests included: "Mr. and Mrs. Saunders A. Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. MacMillen, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Corbett, Mrs. Minty; Misses Jeannette Campbell, Ethel Brooks, Edith Langstaff, Katherine Powell; Messrs. Louis Hicke, Jr., George DuBois, Wallace Well, Addison Clay.

Daily Thought.

Too many find their conscience in the conventions of others.

GOVERNOR HUGHES ON HIS CANDIDACY.

It is the opinion of many good observers that, in all probability, Governor Hughes has lost the opportunity that the situation undoubtedly presented to him some months ago, of becoming a formidable rival of Secretary Taft as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, says the Chicago Record Herald. Certainly the Taft movement has steadily been gaining strength and momentum, and not only do most progressive Republicans recognize in the secretary the natural representative of the forces that have stood behind Roosevelt, but there is a widespread feeling that his nomination is almost a foregone conclusion.

Yet the Hughes letter on the endorsement of his candidacy by the New York Republican club is an important incident in the campaign now in progress. It clears the atmosphere for the friends as well as the opponents of the governor. It makes his attitude, so long a matter of conjecture and speculation, plain and certain. It will stimulate activity and silence those at least in New York who have been asked how they "can be for a man who does not know whether he is for himself."

Governor Hughes so far satisfies the demands for light as to declare that he is ready to abide by the decision of his party in the state. He insists, however, on honest, free and full expression of party sentiment, and on "harmony of effort." He will be a candidate if the party, or a controlling majority of it, shall determine to urge his nomination.

But he also serves notice that he will not attempt to influence in the future, any more than he has attempted to do so in the past, the selection or vote of any delegate. He will not make his office "tributary to any candidacy," for it must remain "impartial."

This is consistent and has the Hughes ring. It is impossible to take any exception to the statement as a whole or to any part of it. It accords with the expectations of Mr. Hughes' sincere admirers.

We may repeat what we have said before on the significance of the Hughes candidacy—that, while certain reactionaries are unduly interested in it, it is not a candidacy that progressive elements will resent or fear. Between the position of Roosevelt, or of Taft, and that of Hughes on the great questions of the day there is no vital difference. It is not to be doubted that Hughes would make an honest, independent, able, enlightened president, and that the reactionaries would be sadly disillusioned in the event of his nomination and election. But circumstances have made Taft the leading and popular Republican candidate, and the cause of constructive, rational reform will be safe with him.

In times of peace nations prepare for war; in period of dullness, shrewd merchants make their plans for the busy seasons. Prompted by that judgment that is the inspiration of these things, Paducah's far-sighted business men have perfected an organization that promises the city the fulfillment of its long cherished hopes—more railroads. The Paducah and Northern Railroad company comes at the opportune time. Indeed, if the judgment of students of such things is worth anything, it is informed circles it has been known that it was merely due to traffic agreements that such road as the P. & N., the H. & N. and other lines have deferred their entrance into Paducah, but the terms of the agreement has matured and now these roads can turn their attention toward extensions into the city, when financial and business conditions warrant it.

Knowing this, the Paducah and Northern Railroad company is organized with the chief object of getting proper terminals and entrance into the city; to build a trunk line to Metropolis, and probably erect a bridge at a point to be determined upon later. This is a proposition to which every man, and every organization in the city can and should contribute, both of time and means, as it means more to the city than anything that has been suggested in recent years.

Mayor Smith is developing into quite an orator, and seemingly likes it. He was one of the principal speakers at the dinner given the men and pastor of the Broadway Methodist church last night and occupied the seat of honor, at the toastmaster's right, his friends who heard his plea for the denial of the Boyle license the other night contend the city would need to employ additional legal talent during his administration to take care of the city's interest, as the mayor will soon be able to take the measure of the most gifted orator in the legal profession.

Senator Wheeler Campbell has the United States senatorship in his pocket, from advice that come from Frankfort. That's all right. He measures up to the office, and Paducah would appreciate the honor as much as he.

STATE CAMPAIGN

AGAINST GREAT WHITE PLAGUE TO BE WAGED.

Plans Decided Upon at Meeting of Conference of Churches and Corrections.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 25.—As a result of the decision reached at the state conference of churches and corrections yesterday, a campaign will be begun at once to organize a state fight against tuberculosis, and the Kentucky Anti-Tuberculosis society may be formed in a short time. The fight will be waged in every county, and it is expected that much good will come from the movement. The plans for the state organization were suggested by John Marshall, of Louisville, in a speech before the conference last night.

The conference has elected the following officers:

George L. Seaton, of Louisville, president; Dr. George P. Sprague, of Lexington, vice-president; Edward Gramann, of Louisville, treasurer; Miss Linda Neville, of Lexington, secretary; Miss Louise Speed, of Louisville, corresponding secretary. Thos. D. Osborne, who had been president since the conference was organized five years ago, declined to accept the presidency again, and Mr. Seaton, who has taken a great interest in the work, was chosen to head the conference.

CLUB WOMEN SEND PETITION TO FRANKFORT

A petition was mailed this morning to Representative Eugene Graves and State Senator Wheeler Campbell requesting them to vote for the passage of the bill now before the legislature, for $50,000 to be given to the emigration to Hawaiian Islands, $20,000 annually set aside for keeping up the place. The petition has the signatures of the presidents of all the Federation clubs in Paducah. These were secured this morning by Mrs. A. R. Meyers, a member of the State Civic committee, and Miss Adine Morton, chairman of the local committee.

The Civic committee of the Federated Women's clubs of Kentucky is working hard for the passage of the bill, and hopes to reach all the representatives through the Civic department of the various cities. Mrs. Meyers as a member of the State Federation committee, is at the head of the work in Paducah.

Ticket Holders to Report on Monday.
All members of the Woman's club who have taken out tickets to sell for the Skovgaard concert on Tuesday evening, are requested to report on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Woman's club house, to Mrs. Robert Becker Phillips, chairman.

PLANS ARE ALL LAID

By Government Attorneys Regarding Course in Harriman Case.
Washington, Jan. 25.—The course to be pursued by the department of Justice in the Harriman case was the subject of a conference today between Attorney General Bonaparte and Frank B. Kellogg and Charles A. Severance, of the counsel for the government. The entire matter was fully discussed and legal proceedings to be adopted decided upon. No particulars were made public.

Glenister dropped his gun. It was Cherry Malotte, and from her heaving breast and the flying colors in her cheeks the men saw she had been running. She did not give them time to question, but closed and locked the door while the words came tumbling from her.

"They're on to you, boys—you'd better duck out quick. They're on their way up here now."

"What?"

"What?"

"Quick! I heard McNamara and Voorhees, the marshal, talking. Some body has spotted you for the holidays. They're on their way now. I tell you I sneaked out by the back way and came here through the mud. Say, but I'm a sight!" She stamped her trimly booted feet and tilted her skirt.

"I don't savvy what you mean," said Dextery, glancing at his partner warningly. "We ain't done nothing."

"Well, it's all right then. I took a long chance so you could make a get away if you wanted to, because they've got warrants for you for that girl."

Meanwhile Cherry Malotte watched the hunted look in Glenister's face grow wilder and then stiffen into the stubbornness of a man at bay. The posse was at the door now, knocking. The three hushes stood rigid and strained. Then Glenister tossed his burden on the bed.

"Go into the back room, Cherry; there's going to be trouble."

"Who's there?" Inquired Dextery through the door, to gain time. Suddenly, without a word, the girl glided to the hot blast heater, now cold and empty, which stood in a corner of the room. These stoves, used widely in the north, are vertical iron cylinders into which coal is poured from above. She lifted the lid and peered in to find it a quarter full of dead ashes, then turned with shining eyes and darted back to Glenister. He caught the hint, and in an instant the four sacks were dropped softly into the feathery bottom and the ashes raked over. The daring maneuver was almost as quick as the flash of woman's wit that prompted it and was carried through while the answer to Dextery's question was still unspoken.

Then Glenister opened the door carefully and admitted the group of men. "We've got a search warrant to look through your house," said Voorhees.

"What are you looking for?"

"Gold dust from Anvil creek."

"All right—search away."

They rapidly scoured the premises, covering every inch, paying no heed to the girl, who watched them with indifferent eyes, not to the old man, who glared at their every movement. Glenister was carefully sarcastic, although he kept his right arm free, while beneath his sangroid was a thoroughly trained alertness.

McNamara directed the search with a manner wholly lacking in his former mock courtesy. It was as though he had been soured by the gall of defeat. The mask had fallen off now, and his character showed—insistent, overbearing, cruel. Toward the partners he preserved a contemptuous silence.

The invaders ransacked thoroughly, while a dozen times the hearts of Cherry Malotte and her two companions stopped, then lunged onward, as McNamara or Voorhees approached, then passed the stove. At last Voorhees lifted the lid and peered into its dark interior. At the same instant the girl cried out sharply, flinging herself from her position while the marshal jerked his head back in time to see her dash upon Dextery.

"Don't! Don't!" She cried her appeal to the old man. "Keep cool. You'll be sorry. Dex—they're almost through."

The officer had not seen any movement on Dextery's part, but doubtless her quick eye had detected signs of violence. McNamara emerged, glowering, from the back room at that moment.

"Let them hunt," the girl was saying, while Dextery stared dazedly over her head. "They won't find anything. Keep cool and don't act rash."

Voorhees' dithers sat uncomfortably upon him at the best, and, looking at the smoldering eyes of the two men, he became averse to further search in a poverty household whose main-born riches he had seen in the back.

"It isn't here," he reported, but the partner only scowled, then spoke for the first time directly to the partners:

"I've got warrants for both of you, and I'm tempted to take you by the back door. I'm not through yet, but I may as well let you go. You've got your money, I'll get you out of here."

He turned out of the door, followed by the marshal, who pulled off his gun, and the group filed back toward the walk.

"Say, you're a jewel, Cherry. You've saved us twice. You caught Voorhees just in time. My heart hit my plate when he looked into that stove, but the next instant I wanted to laugh at Dextery's expression."

Impulsively Glenister laid his hands upon her shoulders. At his look and touch her throat swelled, her bosom heaved and the sullen frown that had been upon her face melted into a very glow of sweet womanliness. She blushed like a little maid and laughed a timid, broken laugh. Then, pulling herself together, the merry careless tone came into her voice, and her cheeks grew cool and clear.

"You wouldn't trust me at first, eh? Some day you'll find that your old friends are the best after all."

And as she left them she added mockingly:

"Say, you're a pair of shine' desponds. You need a governor."

FORWARD PASS

WILL PROBABLY BE LIMITED BY NEW RULES.

New York, Jan. 25.—The members of the intercollegiate football rules committee rounded up at the Murray Hill hotel today for their first meeting of the year. A preliminary conference was held today, but the real business of the meeting will not be taken up until tomorrow.

The forward pass will be the principal subject of discussion, as there has been a demand in some quarters to limit its use. The old committee of seven, representing Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Cornell, Chicago, Pennsy., and Amherst, will amalgamate as usual with the committee of seven named by the intercollegiate Athletic association of the United States. The only change in the personnel of the full committee this year will be Lieutenant H. B. Hackett for Lieutenant Charles D. Daley, representing West Point, and Joshua Crane for W. T. Reid, Jr., representing Harvard.

MONEY CONDITIONS ARE MUCH EASIER

As Shown by Bank Clearings For the Week.

Dun's Review Indicates Trade Is Improving Gradually in All Phases.

NEW YORK PAYS THE CASH.

New York, Jan. 25.—Dun's Review says:

Bank clearings reflect the easing in money conditions heretofore noted, and while the volume of settlements through the banks is still less than at the corresponding date in both preceding years, the loss is not so heavy as in preceding months, while in the west there is an increase at most points.

Total bank exchanges this week at all leading cities in the United States are $2,178,424,715, a decrease of 20.6 per cent, compared with a year ago, and 23.6 per cent, compared with the corresponding week of 1906. The loss is chiefly at New York City, though Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and San Francisco contribute a considerable amount to it. There is a trifling loss at Chicago compared with a year ago, but compared with the corresponding week of 1906, when trade was very active, Chicago reports a considerable increase, likewise Minneapolis, Kansas City and Cleveland.

Today is the last day and some startling special prices are advertised in another portion of this paper for tonight only; so this tremendously successful sale is ensured a wind-up which will draw the trade with irresistible power.

Guthrie's Challenge Sale seems to have "caught on" with a whirl and it has swept on with a rush of under-priced values which has kept enthusiasm at fever heat during the entire ten days. No reservations were made in any department. No garment or piece of goods was too fine or too seasonable to escape the pangs of the price-cutting knife. Everything in the store was swept into the stream of values, which has flowed on with restless power for ten days. Mr. Guthrie takes a great deal of pleasure from the splendid endorsement which his store's methods received and announces that this was one of the best sales he has ever had the good fortune to put on. It is planned to give Paducah shoppers another and even greater Challenge Sale next year and it is a certainty that many will look forward to it eagerly.

$6,000 FIRE

ON SECOND STREET EARLY THIS MORNING.

One of the smokeiest fires the firemen have had to contend with this year was this morning about 1:20 o'clock when the clothing store of Ike Altman, 139 South Second street, was discovered to be on fire. After the discovery of the fire Altman was frantic and had to be restrained from throwing his children from the second story to the pavement. Firemen from the Central station answered the alarm, and placing a ladder at a window carried Altman and his wife and children from danger.

The fire had started from the stove in the rear of the building, and had been smoldering for some time. Practically all the woolen goods was burning, and the smoke was so dense the firemen could breathe only with difficulty, but the firemen waded in and with the hose had the flames extinguished in an hour.

Altman was awakened by his seven-year-old boy who was calling to him. Smoke was in the living apartments, and the air was stifling.

Practically all of the stock is damaged by fire or water, and little of it can be used. Altman says he carried a $6,000 stock, and carried insurance on about three-fourths of its value. Care had been taken with the stove, but it is presumed that the fire started from a coal falling out onto the floor.

SERIOUS CHARGE

May Grow One of Petty Offense Committed by Frank Nance.

By picking up a coat that did not belong to him and wearing it a few days, Frank Nance, a slantyboat, whose craft is tied at the mouth of Clark's river, is in jail on two serious charges to which a felony charge may be added when the trial of the case is finished. Nance carried a big pistol when arrested by Constable Sears, and when sworn to answer questions by Judge Lightfoot, Nance told conflicting stories that may result in a warrant for perjury being issued against him.

Mr. Sam McWhorter, the owner of the coat, testified that Nance told him when he caught him wearing the coat that he bought it from a negro, and when sworn Nance denied telling McWhorter any such thing, and testified today that he picked up the coat after he had passed it three days in succession.

Mr. McWhorter will bring witnesses Monday to prove that Nance did say that he bought the coat.

Judge Lightfoot gave Nance a chance to correct the statement that he made before the court that he did not say he bought the coat, but he refused to avail himself of the opportunity.

EVELYN THAW DENOUNCES CRITICS AS "CATS."

New York, Jan. 25.—Mrs. Harry Thaw when she arrived at the Tombs today issued an interview characterizing as "cats" certain well known women writers who have been chronicling her movements during the present trial said. "Those women have written about me as a woman without a soul, but I wonder how many of them would measure up to the standard of excellence in women had they suffered the trials I have. Their declaration that I married Harry for money is a cruel, base lie. I could have married a man worth much more than Harry. It's been Harry's money that has caused all our troubles and has always been a barrier between us. These women have neither soul or conscience in writing about me. All that Harry and I want is for him to be acquitted."

EVIDENCE

HEARD IN CASE AGAINST TORRENCE AND GILBERT.

Charged With Maintaining Nuisance By Allowing Water to Stand on Lot.

Evidence was heard this morning in the case of the city against Gardner Gilbert and Herbert A. Torrence for the maintaining of a nuisance, but Judge Cross did not render his decision. The property is near Twenty-fourth and Jefferson streets and since the sidewalk has been laid the walk has been higher than the lot. A drain pipe was laid by the city across the street, but the owner of property across the street has filed his lot and the pipe for drainage of the lot has been stopped and the water has no place to drain. City Engineer Washington offered the judge and prosecuting attorney his buggy to go out and see the condition.

The only other case docketed was that of Lon Young and Charles Manley, colored, charged with house-breaking, but the case was continued until Tuesday.

The Last Week of the Greatest Clearance Sale Ever Known in Paducah

Starts at Our Store Monday Morning at 9 O'clock, Continuing All Week

PRICES on all our clothes have been greatly reduced for this final event. I don't see how you could do it."

Our store will remain closed until 9 o'clock in order to prepare the stock for the terrible slash that that hour will bring forth. FIGHT WILL GO ON

FORAKER HAS NO INTENTION OF LEAVING IT.

Surprised at Harding's Action, But Says It Is "Merely One Man Dropping Out."

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 25.—Senator J. B. Foraker said last night that the fight for delegates to the Republican national convention will be continued, even though some of the best known supporters have been reported to have deserted him. This statement was made because of the report that former Lieut. Gov. Harding, one of his warm personal friends, had announced himself in favor of Secretary of War William H. Taft, although heretofore strongly supporting Senator Foraker for the nomination. Senator Foraker said:

"I was greatly surprised by the action of former Lieut. Gov. Harding. I had no idea that he thought of taking any such step. I supposed he, in common with all my other friends, not only knew but approved the position I had taken in regard to the call for primaries, namely:

"That the terms and conditions of the call were illegal and so burdensome as to make compliance with the requirements of the call practically impossible. He is entitled the same as any other man to his own views, but in this case, as in all other such cases, it is simply one man dropping out. If we do not get rid of the call for the state convention through the action of the supreme court and get a fair call as a substitute for it, the contest will be continued in the districts."

Hunting for Bryan's Scalp.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The Democrats, who want to beat Bryan, are directing their footsteps to Washington. Today ex-Senator James Smith, of New Jersey, and Wm. F. Sheehan, of New York, came to Washington. Bryan is due here tomorrow. The mission of Smith and Sheehan is to try to get Democratic senators and Republicans to tell Bryan that he ought to keep out of the race and give a chance to some Democrat who can be elected.

STOCK YARD CHARGES

FINED BY DRASTIC MEASURE BEFORE LEGISLATURE.

Regulates the Prices at Which Producers Must Be Paid for the Shippers.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 25.—Senator R. W. Owen, of Hancock county, has introduced a bill in the senate to regulate the fees charged by stock yards in Kentucky. The measure fixes the maximum fees or charges that may be made by stock yards for the care and feed of cattle, sheep and hogs received for sale, and provides that no more than 50 per cent greater than the market price may be charged for any provender furnished, which shall be weighed and the charges determined by the actual weight at the transaction. The same bill was also offered in the house. Violations are punishable by a fine of from $25 to $100 for each offense.

MRS. LESLIE CARTER

In Her Greatest Success

DU BARRY

By David Belasco

Mrs. Carter will appear in the same production that she used during her great success in this play in New York.

Miss Roberta Wilson in "Isle of Spice," at The Kentucky Wednesday night, January 23.

the field of musical comedy of the higher class.

"Isle of Spice."

Theatergoers who appreciate artistic stage pictures with all the beautiful electric coloring that modern stage mechanism has made possible, have a rare treat awaiting them in that piquant musical mixture, the "Isle of Spice," which B. C. Whitney brings to The Kentucky theater next Wednesday, "The Star of Fate," which is the finale of the first act, represents the acme of electrical and mechanical skill enhanced by beautiful femininity, sweet singing and entrancing music.

Mrs. Carter in "Du Barry."

Mrs. Leslie Carter, the foremost actress of the American stage, will present David Belasco's play, "Du Barry," at The Kentucky on Tuesday evening, January 31.

Fault cannot be found in placing Mrs. Carter in the front rank of the players of our time. The only artist that can be compared to her as an emotional actress is Sarah Bernhardt, to whom Mrs. Carter has been repeatedly compared. The occasion for this comparison is apparent to all those who are acquainted with the art of acting, who are cognizant of dramatic temperament, and of its sway over audiences. Without it, acting is mere make-believe, never real and vital and convincing. An actress may know every trick of the trade; may be conversant with every little technical nicety of the art, and be totally unable to give reality to her impersonations. Such an actress may be admitted for the care she may take in her work; may even satisfy some who are pleased by her personality; but she can never produce the heart-throb in the spectator, can never transport him on the wings of imagination, for she is lacking in temperament, which is God-given and cannot be taught and cannot be acquired by study. Mrs. Carter has temperament. It was dis-

JUDGE THINKS EVIL NEEDFUL.

Says That Without It Little Progress Could Be Made.

Joliet, Ill., Jan. 25.—"Evil is a necessity," said Judge Willard McEwen, of Chicago, before the smoker conference of the steel works club. "It is a necessity because without it we could make little if any progress. What we need nowadays are more balanced men, balanced in proper relationship with brain and muscle. Nowadays the muscle man is complaining loudly against brains because, says the man of muscles, brains are securing the most and best of this world's goods, comforts and enjoyments."

THEATRICAL NOTES

Tuesday Night—The Woman's Club.

Wednesday Night—"The Isle of Spice."

Friday Night—Mrs. Leslie Carter.

The Kentucky offers three excellent bills for next week—Tuesday night the entertainment under the auspices of the Woman's club, Wednesday night "The Isle of Spice" and Friday night Mrs. Leslie Carter. This is Mrs. Carter's first visit to Paducah and great interest is being taken in it. She produces her masterpiece, "Du Barry," and the indications are she will have a big house. "The Isle of Spice" has been here before. The concert for the benefit of the Woman's club promises to be a delightful affair, as the artists are people of note.

The "Isle of Spice," which is the offering at The Kentucky next Wednesday evening, was, during the New York, Chicago and Boston runs, aptly described by the press as a dream of color. The scene of the play is laid on an island in the Japan Sea, which gives ample opportunity for lavish scenic surroundings and which are depicted in all their oriental splendor. As a spectacle alone the production is said to be a marvel, but aside from this there are many features to make it a notable achievement in the art of play producing. With its wealth of song hits, interesting story, sweet singing and clever dancing, it has enjoyed more liberal patronage than almost any production of high class comedy at present before the public. The cast is reported to be unusually strong and is headed by that clever comedian, John Mylle, and the well known prima donna, Roberta Wilson. They are ably supported by such favorites as Charles Purcell, Harry Watson, Robert Wilson, Harry Williams, Sam Rose, Marie Wilson, Loretta Broadwell and many others equally well known and popular in covered in her the first time she set her foot on the stage, at the Broadway theater on November 19, 1890. Every critic next morning recognized this blessed possession. When, therefore, she is referred to as "The American Bernhardt," there is fact and reality behind it.

Of the several imitations that have given Mrs. Carter the foremost place on the stage of our time, her "Du Barry" takes first rank. It was hardly to be expected that she would ever be able to repeat her marvelous success in "Zaza," which displayed her art on so many sides, that to go beyond and above it seemed out of reason. SCARES TOWN; CONVERT WON.

Evangelist Rings Fire Bell at Midnight, Calling People From Beds.

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 25.—Evangelist Buck routed out the entire population of Mahomet at midnight last night by ringing the fire bell for half an hour. The village had a big fire a few weeks ago and old and young, fearing a repetition, hurried out in the cold and snow, only to find that the evangelist had won his hundredth convert and was signaling the event by ringing the fire bell. A few backsliders and sinners objected to the scare, but they were frowned on.

BRYAN WEAK IN NEW YORK.

Gets Only Seven Votes of Democratic Members of Legislature.

Albany, Jan. 25.—That the Democrats of the state are beginning to wake up and take an interest in the campaign was established by a poll of the Democratic members of the legislature regarding their preferences for presidential candidates. The recapitulation of the poll is as follows: Johnson, 11; Bryan, 7; Douglas, 4; Gray, 3; Chandler, 2; "convention nominee," 12; "strong conservative man," 2; "anyone who can win," 3; no choice, 37; no choice but against Bryan, 12.

King of Swan Island.

Among the saloon passengers arriving yesterday afternoon on the steamer San Jose, from Port Limon, Costa Rica, was Alonzo Adams, owner of Swan's Island, and who is known throughout Central America as the king of Swan's Island. His domain is a fertile island situated in the Caribbean sea, upon which he has a beautiful residence and numerous houses for his laborers.

He raises fruit and coconuts and employs several hundred men. Mr. Adams is a philanthropist, and has assisted not only the inhabitants of several of the islands in the Caribbean but is of especial help to the mariners. Knowing the value of a light to guide the vessels running through the Caribbean on their way from New York and Boston to Port Limon and other points, he built and maintains a light which can be seen for miles.

Mr. Adams is 65 years of age and is a native of Eastport, Maine, Boston, Globe.

DON'T BLAME HER

For she cannot help it. Women are often cross, irritable, hysterical, and declare they are driven to distraction at the slightest provocation.

Men cannot understand why this should be so. To them it is a mystery because in nine times out of ten this condition is caused by a serious feminine derangement.

A remedy is necessary which acts directly upon the organs affected, restoring a healthy normal condition to the feminine system, which will quickly dispel all hysterical, nervous and irritable conditions. Such is

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

The following letter serves to prove this fact.

Mrs. Mattie Cornhaver, 315 So. 21st St., Parsons, Kans., writes: "For two years I suffered from the worst form of feminine ills, until I was almost driven frantic. Nothing but morphine would relieve me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me health and happiness and made me a well woman."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that tearing-down feeling, lameness, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

RESOLUTIONS ABE PASSED.

Opening address of Mrs. A. M. Harrison at Lexington mass meeting:

Almost all large subjects can be approached from several different points of view. The theme for consideration this afternoon, "School Suffrage for the Women of Kentucky Who Can Read and Write," might be treated from the side of right and justice. The fact that women and the mothers of the race—that childhood has ever been regarded as the most sacred charge of womanhood—might be urged as a fundamental reason for the exercise of this privilege. The child leaves home at six years of age for school—is not the mother as vitally concerned in its welfare during the formative period of its school life as during its years of infancy, and should she not have the same voice in its management and environment at this time?

To Follow the Procession.

We might urge it from the side of being in accord with the spirit of the age. In more than thirty out of the fifty states and territories in our land women have some form of school suffrage, and it seems to have been uniformly beneficial when once given a fair trial. Is it not a significant fact that every state having less than one per cent of illiteracy has school suffrage for women? Why should the women of Kentucky be denied a privilege that the women in thirty-one other states have used for the promotion of the cause of education, and therefore for the crying cause of a better citizenship?

What We Want It For.

But the point of approach in this movement to present a bill to the general assembly now in session at Frankfort for school suffrage with an educational qualification for the women of our state was not along the general line of claiming it as a just right for the mothers of the race, or of the natural desire of wanting to be in the fashion with about two-thirds of our sister states, but our primary point of approach is the unselfish and patriotic wish to be able to do our part in removing the dark stigma of illiteracy from our beloved commonwealth.

The Facts Before the People.

The effective work of the committee on education of the Kentucky Federation of Women's clubs has wisely disseminated the humiliating facts revealed by the last federal census—that in the percentage of illiteracy in our population of ten years and over we rank 37th by our total population; if we strike out our negro population we descend five points in the scale and rank forty-second; if we eliminate our foreign white population we descend one point more, and on the basis of our native white voters of twenty-one years and over, of native white parentage, our rank is forty-ninth, leaving of all states and territories, including Alaska and Hawaii, only North Carolina, Louisiana and New Mexico lower than we. When these facts were generally realized by the more than 5,000 women composing the membership of the Federation, they said as with one voice, "These things must no longer be!"

The Federation Pledged.

This body stands pledged and ready to do all it can for the betterment of educational conditions in our state. Its campaign for the improvement of our public schools has already resulted in the formation of school improvement leagues in thirty-eight of our counties—mostly in connection with our rural schools.

School Suffrage.

Its leaders and members feel that this work can be immensely forwarded by granting to women of education the right of school suffrage. In accordance with this, the following resolution was presented and passed at the last annual convention at Shelbyville:

"Whereas, The Women of Kentucky are deeply stirred by the educational needs of the state, and deplore the illiteracy and badly equipped school buildings, the short average term, the poorly paid teachers, and the alarming fact that over half the children of school age are out of school; and

"Whereas, We believe the remedy of these conditions lies in the voting of local taxes, in securing earnest and disinterested persons as school trustees and members of city school boards, in the merit system for teachers, and in other reforms, the means towards which must be found in an enlightened school electorate; and

"Whereas, We realize that all efforts of women in behalf of schools are feeble compared to the power they would exert if included in the school electorate; therefore

"Resolved, That, while not abating any of our efforts to improve the schools by the indirect means now open to us, we exert ourselves to the utmost to secure school suffrage for Kentucky women having the ability to read and write."

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

IS PRAISED BY

PAULA A. EDWARDES

Paula A. Edwardes, the well-known theatrical star, writes as follows:

"I am charmed with Newbro's Herpicide. It is a refreshing hair remedy, producing a beautiful luster and a luxuriance of growth; at the same time keeping the scalp free from dandruff."

Very truly yours,
(Signed) PAULA A. EDWARDES,
New York City.

Good results from the use of Newbro's Herpicide mean as much to one person as to another, but on the other hand, the fact that leading theatrical stars prefer Newbro's Herpicide is an important point in its favor. Professional people live an hellion and an opportunity—not enjoyed by others—to discontinue in their choice of toilet remedies and their opinions should not go unheeded.

The extraordinary success of Newbro's Herpicide is due to the simple fact that it kills the dandruff germ. While other remedies treat the cause of the disease, after which nature grows the hair, if it is not too late.

Chronic baldness cannot be cured, but before the hair follicles are too badly diseased, one can, by careful treatment and intelligent sanitary care, keep down and ultimately destroy the tiny vegetable growth (dandruff germ) whose combined presence in the sebaceous glands of the scalp means hair destruction.

Ladies become enthusiastic over Newbro's Herpicide, because it brightens up the hair and keeps it light and fluffy. Stops itching of scalp almost instantly.

Guaranteed under the Food and Drug Act June 30, 1906. Serial No. 915.

Two sizes, 50c and $1.00 at drug stores. Insist upon Herpicide.

ON KENTUCKY SEAL.

Lincoln and Breckinridge Will Be the Figures—Will Go On the Checks.

The likeness of the great commoner Henry Clay, is not to displace the picture of the late Governor William Goebel upon the official checks of the state of Kentucky after all, says the Frankfort Journal.

Gov. Willson yesterday notified State Superintendent of Printing J. W. Heiden to rescind the order for the picture of Clay. He said that he had decided to adorn the checks with an engraving of the great seal of Kentucky.

The governor has designed new figures for the seal which he believes will carry out to a better extent the intent of the two figures clasp hands, under the motto, "United, We Stand; Divided, We Fall." The governor said that the seal was adopted in the days of the Whigs and old Democrats; now the Whig party is no more, so he believes that a seal with a more modern application would prove more suitable. Accordingly he has made inquiries of leading citizens and students, and says that the late Gen. John C. Breckinridge could stand as a more typical Democrat, than anyone thought of. Of course Abraham Lincoln, a native of Kentucky, was chosen as the Republican. The new seals will bear the two male figures shaking hands under the time honored motto, and one of the men will have the features of General Breckinridge while the other will be that of President Lincoln. The governor believes that such a plan will meet the entire approval of all the people of the commonwealth.

WITHDRAWALS BEGUN.

Secretary Cordayon Will Take Public Money from Banks.

Washington, Jan. 24.—The secretary of the treasury late today announced that owing to the great improvement in the financial conditions throughout the country he had begun a gradual withdrawal of deposits of public moneys, in moderate amounts from the national banks.

The first call has been made upon New York banks and amounts to approximately ten million dollars. This is in addition to about ten million dollars returned by New York banks since December 26.

The secretary also announced that a general call for a moderate amount will be made upon banks in other cities at an early date.

The price of eggs in England has advanced greatly in late years. The value of last year's home product was $2,500,000 greater than that of twelve years ago.

JAPAN'S BUDGET IS PREPARED.

Revenues for the Coming Year Estimated at 616,000,000 Yen.

Tokio, Jan. 25.—A summary of the budget of the Japanese government for the fiscal year commencing April 1 next, which is to be submitted to the diet, was obtained today. The total estimated revenues for the year are put down at 616,000,000 yen (about $308,000,000), of which 175,700,000 yen is from ordinary revenue and 140,300,000 yen is from extraordinary revenue. The ordinary expenditures for the year are estimated at 427,000,000 yen and the extraordinary expenditures at 189,000,000 yen.

The sum of 176,000,000 yen is appropriated for the national debt sinking fund, of which 38,000,000 yen will be spent for the payment of the principal.

In considering Japan's finances, attention is called to the volume of the foreign trade of Japan during 1907. This shows that exports and imports amounted respectively to 496,000,000 yen and 430,000,000 yen, making the total of 926,000,000 yen, which exceeds that of the previous year by 84,000,000 yen.

MAYOR IS BUSIEST MAN IN CITY

Has Regular Hours and Always at Post.

James Jr., Hopes to Occupy "His Chief's" Chair These Some Day.

HE RECEIVES MANY VISITORS.

Mayor Smith is no doubt the busiest man in the city these days, with his great property interests, his grocery and allied business, and the city's business, all, on his shoulders, but he has not yet shown any signs of bending under the burden.

He is in his office bright and early every morning and has time for every caller. His first business of the day is his visit to his wholesale grocery, where he spends two hours' time, then he goes to his office in the city hall, where there are always many visitors, on one mission and another.

Probably none of his visitors receive more cordial welcome than his wife and two children, who have made it a custom to visit him every morning, for a few moments. The children, especially, take a great interest in the affairs of the hall, and James, Jr., takes especial delight in climbing up into a big chair in the mayor's office, which he says is "the fire chair," and to which he hopes to come some day full heir.

Mrs. Smith accompanied the mayor on his trip to New Orleans, when the mayor was presented the grand old Paducah, and she will go to Frankfort with him next week, when he goes to attend the meeting of the representatives of the second class cities, who will gather there to draft some legislative measures which they wish passed at this time of the legislature. "I intend to go with the mayor on all of his junkets," she said to a reporter today, "as I enjoy them very much myself."

MANY PLACES OPEN TO SHAW.

Former Secretary Tells of Various Jobs Given Him by Rumer.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Leslie M. Shaw paid his respects to President Roosevelt today. Mr. Shaw said for the first time in some years he was able to take a day's complete rest from active occupation. He said that he had been asked if he was a candidate for the presidency or the vice presidency; if he was to become president of the Knickerbocker Trust company; if he was to run for governor of New York; if he was to take charge of the National Bank of Commerce of Kansas City; if he was to reorganize and consolidate the United States Mortgage and Trust company and the Windsor and Empire Trust companies of New York.

"I have answered all of these reports in the affirmative and shall accept every position," he laughingly remarked Mr. Shaw.

Revenues Decrease.
Washington, Jan. 21.—The monthly statement of collections of the internal revenue for December 1907, a decrease in receipts compared with December, 1906, of $2,118,277. For the six months of the fiscal year the decrease compared with the corresponding period of 1906, is $1,400,510.

DON'T BLAME HER

For she cannot help it. Women are often cross, irritable, hysterical, and declare they are driven to distraction at the slightest provocation. Men cannot understand why this should be so. To them it is a mystery because in nine times out of ten this condition is caused by a serious feminine derangement.

A remedy is necessary which acts directly upon the organs afflicted, restoring a healthy normal condition to the feminine system, which will quickly dispel all hysterical, nervous and irritable conditions. Such is

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

The following letter serves to prove this fact.
Mrs. Mattie Copenhaver, 315 So. 21st St., Parsons, Kans., writes:

"For two years I suffered from the worst form of feminine ills, until I was almost driven frantic. Nothing but morphine would relieve me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me health and happiness and made me a well woman."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.
For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that tearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

By statement of collections of the internal revenue for December 1907, a decrease in receipts compared with December, 1906, of $2,118,277. For the six months of the fiscal year the decrease compared with the corresponding period of 1906, is $1,400,510.

WROTE MANY FAMED SONGS

Story of the Author of "Hot Time in the Old Town".

Likewise "Sweet Marie" and Other Songs—Ups and Downs of Composer's Life.

"HOT TIME" WAS HARD TO PUSH

The man who wrote "Ta-Ra-Ra-Boom-De-Ay," though not the man who wrote "I'm the Man That Wrote Ta-Ra-Ra-Boom-De-Ay," has been a visitor in Indianapolis for the last few days, says the news of that city. He is Theodore A. Metz, of Stamford, Conn., once a citizen of Indianapolis. He is likewise the man who wrote "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," "Sweet Marie," two songs that recently were popular in the United States. Metz is on the road popularizing a new song of his own, which he calls "Pain John Smith." It takes time, he says, but he hopes to make his new song as great a favorite as the famous three mentioned.

The story Metz tells of how he wrote those ear-tickling melodies could be lengthened into a good book.

"I wrote the 'Ta-Ra' song in St. Louis in 1890," he said, "and it was an awfully long time in making a hit with anybody. I didn't get a cent out of it; didn't even get a reputation. I was a member of the McIntyre & Heath minstrel show then, that being the No. 2 show of Primrose & West. It was sung in the minstrel show, but made no impression, and was not even copyrighted. Back in New York I was told that Lottie Collins, who had made $15 a week in a chorus in New York, was making something of a success in London. She wanted a new song, and some one suggested that 'thing of the Dutchman's.' That was my 'Ta-Ra' song. Well, she sang it, and London went crazy over it. The words were fixed up to suit English ideas. Then it was brought back over the pond by Lottie Collins and sung in New York, with the verses fixed over again for American purposes. You know how popular it became here. Lottie Collins was getting $15 a week when she left and she came back for $800 a week."

"Would you suppose that the 'Hot Time' song was ten years in making a hit? In 1886 I was with the McIntyre & Heath show traveling through Louisiana. Our last stop before we reached New Orleans was a place called Old Town. Just as we pulled into the edge of the town we saw that there was a big fire in progress. The negroes were having the time of their lives putting out the fire and were enjoying the excitement immensely."

"There's a hot time in Old Town tonight," McIntyre remarked to me. "That'd make a good song," I said. "Hot Time in Old Town Tonight," composed the music right there on the train, and we fixed up some words for it and sang it that night. It did make a hit in Old Town all right, but nowhere else to any extent. "We used that for a while, but with no great success. In 1896 I was in the publishing business, as I am now, in Stamford. Joe Hayden said to me: 'I've got a set of words that would fit that melody of yours beautifully.' He had been to eleven publishing houses, he said, and had been turned down by every one of them. We put the words and music together, and my daughter, Ota Hayden, sang it in Boston for six weeks. The words were changed every time we thought of a new line better than an old one, but it was finally sung it was pretty much in the form that I wrote it."

"We arranged to put it on at Koster & Bight's roof garden in New York, and Josephine Sable sang it. We taught the song to fifty 'coons' and scattered them through the audience and we got every friend we had in the theatrical business who could sing to help it along, and when Josephine Sable sang it the first time all those 'coons' and friends of ours in the audience joined in the second chorus. It took the town by storm. Thatcher & Primrose took it out with them in 1887. Primrose had a negro dressed up in the same freakish clothes—the white hat, red overcoat and so forth—that he wore, sitting up in the gallery. This negro would join in the chorus. They'd shuffle down through the balcony and the orchestra singing along with Primrose. He'd cakewalk down the aisle of the orchestra, where Primrose would meet him and escort him to the stage."

"Well, in 1903 the Spanish-American war broke out. Every band that marched away or stayed at home and marched played the 'Hot Time' song. 'Sweet Marie.' Wrote that in Columbus, O., Christmas Eve, 1889. Was headed back east with Thatcher's minstrels from a trip to California. Raymond Moore, the tenor, showed me a bit of poetry he had picked up in San Francisco. A newspaper man wrote it, he said, and he thought it ought to make a good song. The indicated the air he'd like to have composed for it."

"You blamed thief," I said, "that's a Salvation Army tune." He insisted, though, that it was a good air, and I composed the music along the line he suggested. I went to Europe that summer because of rheumatism. When I came back it seemed like everybody in America was singing 'Sweet Marie'."

Metz came to Indianapolis in 1878, having arrived from Germany a short time before. He was a cousin of Otto Schenck, and the latter engaged him at his summering place on the canal as an instructor, calling him the "German professor." He played a violin in the orchestra of the Metropolitan opera house while here and first violin in the Lavinia Music association of which Emil Waischner was director and president. He was a member of the Russian Rite band, of which H. D. Rosenthal was director.

His departure from Indianapolis was quick. He had gone with the land to Terre Haute and passed the train back. He remained in Terre Haute for a month or more, he says, he went to Chicago and then joined a company of vaudeville as violin soloist. The company spent some time in Montana, and while there, he says, he wrote his form for publication a number of airs that he heard sung by the Indian women. A number of the company married one of the Indian girls after a rather long courtship. Metz, around this time, had written an opera called "Paducah." This he is arranging with Harry Porter to present before several Red Men's lodges of Indiana.

ENGLISH JUSTICE.

American Variety Not Quite So Bad in Some Directions.

It is only a century since the death penalty was inflicted in England for theft not exceeding the value of a sheep. Now some of the London journals are making a merciless exposure of magistrates throughout the Kingdom who keep up the tradition of sentencing petty thieves to jail, while inflicting only trifling fines upon white booters and even more brutal offenders.

In one police court one defendant was fined 6d. for knocking his wife down in the street because she refused to give him money for drink, and another was sentenced to sixty days' imprisonment for damaging potatoes and stealing two for balls. "I've got a horse," telling his wife, who was ill, with his feet and hammer and leaving her nothing to eat, one man was fined 10s., while another, charged with stealing a pair of socks valued at 6d., got fourteen days' hard labor. It would not be difficult to make up a list of similar cases from American police courts, yet this tendency in America is rather toward a higher estimate of the value of human life.—Van Norden Magazine.

LONGEST QUESTION ON RECORD.

Lawyer Commences It on Tuesday and Gets to the End on Thursday.

Baltimore, Jan. 25.—Long-distance records for hypothetical questions went to smash before a jury in the court of common pleas at noon Thursday, when contended for the relatives of the late Clinton Schenck, who are suing to break his will, finished a question which he started to put to a witness at 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. The trial has been going on since the beginning of the January term, a week ago last Monday. The court is in session from 10 to 3.

The witness to whom the question was put was Dr. Charles G. Hill, alienist, and was in regard to the mental ability of the testator to make a proper will.

At the conclusion Dr. Hill declared it his belief that a man laboring under conditions with which Mr. Schenck was said to be was not capable of making a will.

Unknown Philippines.

These great unknown islands spell neglected opportunity; millions and millions of acres have never known the wild man's crude plow, says Hamilton Wright in The World Today. One may, in regions, travel for days, weeks, without seeing a native. He will pass through realms of extreme fertility and beauty, through vast upland meadows of rich pasture grass, growing knee high and concealing a soil rich and black as that of Egypt; across quiet savannas where strange trees dot the landscape as do the mountain oaks of the California Sierras. But for the lack of sleek cattle, one might here fancy himself in a deserted orchard pasture in New England. Streams, clear, cool and crystal, spring from the mountain heights and bubble through the mountain meadows.

In the lowlands, jungles of wild bananas wave in the wind, their fruit unripe; in the uplands thousands of acres of wild hemp are never stripped; on the mountain tops the Igorrote grow as fine long-staple cotton as any in the world, but curiously, for each cotton plant stands alone on the summit of a hummock, which is six or eight feet from the next hummock, and surrounded by the water of a rice paddy. The cotton grows well enough, and an immense quantity could be grown on the idle areas, but the Igorrote are skilled only in the raising of rice. Wild peanuts, wild canutes (sweet potatoes), wild oranges of many kinds and some of a delicious flavor, wild limes, wild rubber and gutta percha, thousands of products of the tropical, semi-tropical, and in the higher altitudes of the temperate zone, are neglected. The valuable hardwoods that pass their usefulness without being lumbered and on to decay are almost everywhere. Game and fruit for the taking, cool nights—sometimes very cold—and brilliant, comfortable days and a region as magnificently alluring as ever beckoned to the pioneers of the great plains.

Farmers at Convention Decide Distribution Is Not Desirable.

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 25.—Congressional distribution of seeds is undesirable, the agricultural club decided in a debate at the Corn Growers' and Stockmen's convention. C. D. Smith of Grandview, and A. N. Hume, of the department of agronomy addressed the farmers' school today.

ROTTERS TERRORIZE TOWN.

Italians, Ordered to Give Up Jobs and Homes, Threaten Resistance.

Bush, Ill., Jan. 25.—Three hundred Italians, ordered to vacate their houses, which are owned by the company operating the coal mine here, and give up their employment, are patrolling the streets and vowing to resist by force. They are armed with rifles and revolvers.

The trouble originated several days ago and the company decided to discontinue with Italian workers. All were ordered to leave and vacate the company's houses within twenty-four hours.

American miners, who are to take the places of the Italians also are arming and it appears that a serious clash may take place at any time. The residents of the town are terrorized and the streets are tightly barred. A strong guard has been placed about the mine, as threats have been made to wreck it.

CATARRH BLOOD UNHEALTHY SYSTEM DERANGED

The entire inner portion of the body is covered with mucous membrane; this membranous tissue is abundantly supplied with blood vessels, veins, arteries, and capillaries. Each of these is constantly supplying to this tissue or lining, blood to nourish and strengthen it and keep the system healthy. When the blood becomes infected with catarrhal matter it is not able to furnish the required amount of healthful properties, but feeds the parts with impurities which disease the membranes and tissues so that they become irritated and inflamed, and Catarrh, with all its disagreeable and dangerous symptoms, is established in the system. There is a constant ringing in the ears, a thin, watery discharge from the nostrils, the breath has an offensive odor, slight fever often accompanies the disease, and gradually the entire health becomes affected and the system upset and deranged. In its earlier stages, when Catarrh is confined to the nose and throat, sprays, washes, inhalations, etc., are soothing and in a way beneficial, because they are cleanly and usually antiseptic, but such treatment has no curative effect, because it does not reach the blood. To cure Catarrh the blood must be purified, and this is just what S. S. S. does. It goes down into the circulation and attacks the disease at its foundation; it removes the cause and makes the blood pure and healthy. Then the blood vessels are filled with fresh, reinvigorated blood, which is carried to all the mucous surfaces and linings, the inflammation and irritation are corrected, the symptoms all disappear, the health is improved and Catarrh is permanently cured. Book on Catarrh and any medical advice free to all who write.

The Homosely.

We are rather glad that the common fly is to get its due as a disseminator of deadly disease, and that scientific folks are beginning to take notice against it. Hitherto the ordinary fly, the Musca domestica, has been regarded as annoying rather than dangerous. Its low tastes have been recognized, and feeble efforts have been made to protect us from its excessive familiarity. It has shown itself superior, however, to the influence of fly paper, patent fly killers and window screens. As an easily risen it has quite outdone the lark, and as a disturber of late sleeping on summer mornings it has been more potent than the alarm clock.

Nevertheless, the homosely has been regarded complacently as a harmless nuisance, as a natural object lesson in pestiferousness, as a rather pretty thing to look at. Children have been taught that to kill flies is cruel. Only lately London Punch has illustrated the natural killing propensity of the average Briton in its tale of the convalescent small boy who asked to be lifted from his bed to the window, as he felt strong enough to kill a fly. The scientific revelations of this week transform that British small boy into a hero.

The common fly is more dangerous than the tiger or the cobra. Worse than that, he is as bad as the mosquito. Hereafter we must take no half measure with flies. The theory that they are here for some good purpose must be overlooked. Kill the flies.—New York Times.

GOV. HUGHES

WILL TAKE SOLID N. Y. DELEGATION CLAIMED.

Taft Can Have One-Half on Second Ballot if He Needs Them to Win Nomination.

New York, Jan. 25.—For Hughes as first and Taft as second choice for president is pretty sure to be the attitude of the New York delegation at the national convention next June.

Governor Hughes may be given the full vote of the state on the first ballot for tactical reasons, but the Taft people can have from one-quarter to one-third, possibly one-half, of the seventy-eight votes from New York whenever they need them says Walter Wellman.

They say they will never need them; that without a vote from this state Taft will be nominated on the first ballot, and that it is "good politics," remembering the ideas of November, for the friends of the administration and of Taft to keep on good terms with the Hughes following.

Governor Hughes' announcement that he is a candidate for the presidency foreshadows a New York delegation more or less solidly and more or less sincerely for him. His announcement was not unexpected, as there have been signs for some time, as I wrote you a few days ago, that he was eager to get into the game. He is now in it. But the best opinion here is that he has started too late. Public opinion throughout the country at large is fairly well crystallized in favor of Taft. The friends of Taft and of the administration have done effective work in every state and territory. They have worked so cleverly and have found the task so easy on account of the favorable trend of public opinion that it is probably true, as the case stands today, they have enough votes in sight to secure the nomination on the first ballot. What would have been the effect if Governor Hughes had come out earlier, and so managed things as to convince the country that he had his state behind him, we shall never know, but the effect of his belated announcement upon opinion and action throughout the country we must now carefully watch. It is possible sentiment may gather around him and check the sweep of the Taft movement, which up to now appears well-nigh invincible.

The "Vegetable Prescription" for Kidney Trouble Filled Many Times in Paducah.

DID YOU MIX SOME?

That the readers of this paper appreciate advice when given in good faith is plainly demonstrated by the fact that one well known local pharmacist supplied the ingredients for the "vegetable prescription" many times within the past two weeks. The announcement of this simple, harmless mixture has certainly accomplished much in reducing the great many cases of kidney complaint and rheumatism here, relieving pain and misery, especially among the older population, who are always suffering more or less with bladder and urinary troubles, backache and particularly rheumatism.

Another well known druggist asks us to continue the announcement of the prescription. It is doing so much real good here, he continues, that it would be a crime not to do so. It can not be repeated too often, and further states many cases of remarkable cures wrought.

The following is the prescription of simple ingredients, making a harmless, inexpensive compound, which any person can prepare by shaking well in a bottle: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Any first class drug store will sell this small amount of each ingredient, and this dose for adults is one teaspoonful to be taken after each meal and again at bedtime. There is enough here to last for one week, if taken according to directions. Good results will be apparent from the first few doses.

HENRY WATTERSON

BOOMED FOR SECRETARY OF TREASURY BY KIMBALL.

Kentucky Congressman Makes Maiden Speech in House on Occasion of Editor's Visit.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Arising from a seat at the side of Henry Waterson, the veteran Kentucky editor, who, as a former member, was upon the floor of the house today, Representative Kimball, of that state, introduced Mr. Waterson as the next secretary of the treasury. Mr. Waterson modestly accepted the applause, but was debarred by the rules from explaining his political ambitions. Whether he is to be rewarded by a cabinet portfolio in the event of the election of William J. Bryan must for a time remain a secret.

Representative Kimball was not satisfied with the excitement and comment which his declaration concerning Mr. Waterson created. His humorous remarks brought laughing members to their seats, and, adopting the precedent set by Democratic colleagues, he constituted himself a nominating convention and then elected his candidates. His prediction that Mr. Bryan would be nominated and elected provoked some applause among the Democrats. With the president safely established in the white house, Mr. Kimball proceeded to fill other important offices in the government service. He prophesied that Champ Clark, of Missouri, will be the next speaker of the house and that Representative De Armond will be the next Democratic floor leader. Mr. Clark yesterday nominated and elected Mr. Bryan, and Mr. Kimball's thoughtfulness in providing for Mr. Clark was appreciated by the Democrats, who heartily applauded. Secretary Taft will, in Mr. Kimball's opinion, be nominated.

LESLIE M. SHAW
Quits a $30,000 Position to Run for President.

New York, Jan. 25.—Leslie M. Shaw, who is to retire from his $36,000 position as president of the Carnegie Trust company on March 1 next will devote his entire energies toward capturing the Republican nomination for the presidency of the United States.

Coincident with the news of his retirement from the trust company it became known today that the former secretary of the treasury had established political headquarters at 111 Broadway and was devoting a great part of his time to his political ambitions and plans.

It was in fact, his retiring zeal in the last few months toward obtaining delegates that brought about a crisis in his relations with the Carnegie Trust company. His fellow directors intimated to him that they believed his chances of obtaining the nomination were slim.

He replied that he expected to obtain the delegates of two states, including Iowa, and that his judgment Mr. Taft would never obtain the nomination.

Mr. Shaw argued with his directors that when convention time arrived sentiment in the country would be dead against an outgoing president naming his successor. Such a policy, he said, would be more dangerous than the third term possibilities. The directors were also informed that Governor Hughes would never win in Mr. Shaw's judgment, because in a campaign for the presidency one has to go out and work hard to obtain delegates. Mr. Shaw also believed he had fewer enemies than Cannon, Fairbanks and Foraker.

SCENE OF GREAT PLAY LAID IN LOUISVILLE

Agustus Thomas Uses State and City in Drama.

"The Witching Hour." One of the Strong Plays of the Day This Odd Theme.

INTERESTING REVIEW OF STORY

"The Witching Hour," a new play
by Augustus Thomas, which is creating a sensation in the theatrical world in Chicago and New York, has two of its scenes laid in Louisville, and will be of interest to Kentuckians for a reference, also, to the assassination of Goebel.

The motif animating the play is defined by Mr. Thomas in these words:

"In this play I have tried to enumerate two related facts: The first one is that thought is a dynamic force, or, scientifically expressed, the fact of telepathy. This fact is accepted by every accredited psychologist in the world. There will be those among the informed who will think, and with whom I shall agree, that in the statement of this fact in dramatic form I have been fairly redundant, but I shall ask them to consider, as I have considered, the auditors to whom the idea comes newly.

"The second fact is the logical and ethical deduction from the first fact,
that if thought is a dynamic force,
the possessor of a thought is responsible for its character. The members of a large part of the community with whom I am in sympathy have long been accustomed to regard their private minds as a park in which there might be neither prohibition nor police, but if, as the scientists assert, a malignant and destructive thought of mine, like a circling Marconigram, affects, first my family, then acquaintances, before it finally filters impotently to its destruction,
I want to know it; and if, after twenty years of fairly intelligent investigation
I believe that it is so, I feel it my duty as a dramatist to state it."

The lesson of the play is unmistakable, for it premises on which it rests are not controvertible. As early as 1892 Dr. Thomas Hudson declared that all the psychic demonstrations, whether designated by the name of mesmerism, hypnotism, somnambulism, trance spiritism, demonology, miracle or mental therapeutics are to be understood by some general principle of law, and the nearest approach to a statement of the law is made by Mr. Thomas. In other words, thought travels just as electricity, light and heat, and registers somewhere after it has left the mind of its creator.

Mr. Thomas seems to have the credit of writing the first telepathic play, George Bernard Shaw said that things become current first, through the philosopher, then ten years later through the newspapers, and twenty years later, through the stage. The danger of writing a telepathic play at this particular time would seem to be the fact that it would be about twenty years ahead of Mr. Shaw's schedule.

The first scene is laid in Louisville, Ky. Jack Brookfield is a professional gambler, and has become very wealthy though he has the reputation of always playing a "straight game." Mrs.
Whipple, the woman he loves, has refused to marry him because of his "profession," and on the night that the play opens he asks her, now a widow with a son of 20, to take up the old romance and conclude the story. They are interrupted by the appearance of Judge Prentice, of the supreme court, who comes to look at a Corot that is in the collection of Brookfield. The judge answers several questions that Brookfield is thinking of asking.

"Do you pick your answers often like that?" asked the gambler.
And then the judge proceeds to explain that telepathy is an accepted scientific fact, all of which is new to Brookfield, who now muses on his own ability to win at cards. The act concludes with the murder of a drunken man by young Whipple, who has an inherited aversion to a cat's eye pin and is unable to restrain himself when the drunken man pushes it in front of his face.

In the second act the library of Judge Prentice in Washington is shown. Young Whipple has been tried for murder and found guilty and the case is now before the supreme court on a constitutional point. Brookfield and his old sweetheart, who is the mother of the guilty boy, come to the judge to remind him that years before he had fought a duel with a man over this very same cat's eye aversion and the girl involved in the duel was the grandmother of young Whipple.

The third act is back in Kentucky and the second trial of the boy has just been completed. The judge has given his testimony and the jury is out. The prosecuting attorney has been unusually bitter against the boy, for they had both been suitors for the hand of Brookfield's niece. The gambler is now thoroughly convinced of the fact of telepathy and hypnotism, and, realizing that with his ability there is no such thing as a "square game" for him, has closed up his business. He is sitting alone trying to influence by telepathy the mind of one juror, who, he thinks, is susceptible to his thought. Under Judge Prentice's direction he has published in the newspapers the fact that the prosecuting attorney was responsible for the killing of Goebel, the governor-elect of Kentucky.

"What is the game?" asks a dubitious fellow-gambler. And Brookfield replies that if he can show the people of Kentucky the despicable character of the prosecuting attorney his bitter
"prosecution of the boy will have no effect on the jury. And when he is old that the jury is not allowed to read the newspapers replies that it is impossible for 100,000 people to think a thing and any twelve men in that community not be influenced by hat thought.

The boy is acquitted. The prosecuting attorney is jeered out of court, comes rushing to Brookfield and places a revolver against his breast.

"You can't shoot that gun," says Brookfield calmly looking him in the eye. "You can't pull the trigger. You can't even hold that gun."

The man's hand opens, the revolver drops and the curtain comes down as he gasps: "I'd like to know how in the h— I you did that to me." The last act is given over to an ethical summing up of the other three.

King Edward as a Farmer.

The rich crop of prizes which the king's cattle and sheep have won at the Bingley Hall show, Birmingham, is the latest demonstration of his majesty's success as a farmer, of which he is so deservedly proud.
When the king began breeding nearly forty years ago the Sandringham farm lands were in an almost hopeless condition, barren and barely capable of cultivation. Today, according to Rider Haggard, "it is a wonderful farm, for nowhere is so much high bred stock to be seen on the same area." But probably nowhere will you find such an array of plates and cups won at shows as that which Sandringham boasts. At a single exhibition his majesty once won no fewer than fourteen first prizes. In 1902 he captured five first prizes and cups. In addition to numerous seconds and thirds; in 1901 his prizes numbered twenty. In 1905 he won a champion plate, a challenge cup and eighteen other prizes, including four firsts, while last year he took at the Smithfield show ten firsts, nine "breed" cups and plates, six other prizes and several "highly commendeds," and every prize winner he has bred himself.—

Raising Spring Chickens in a Flat.

On the heels of the wireless telegraph has come the electric hen, and with it boundless possibilities in the line of poultry yards and brooding pens in city kitchens. No flat dweller need he without spring chickens and fresh eggs if his dwelling is wired for electric lights and he will invest in the latest incubator wrinkle.

The electric hen will be exhibited
at the national poultry show, January 22 to 29, inclusive. It has been shown at the eastern shows which preceded Chicago's big event and has aroused great interest. Properly speaking, the hen consists of two parts, an incubator and a brooder, in both of which the heat necessary is supplied by electricity. This heat is superior to the lamp ordinarily used because it can be regulated with exactness and there is no odor, no gas, nor soot.

Grow Up in Glass Play Yard.
Eggs are placed in the incubator part of the hen, any number up to twelve dozen being used. A specially constructed plug is placed in the lighting fixture and the incubator is forgotten until the hatching time comes. In the meantime, provided the electric current is available twenty-four hours a day, Sunday included, the heat is automatically regulated with scientific exactness and the little chicks merrily progress toward maturity.

When at last they have pecked their way out of the shells, instead of warming under a real hen mother's wings, they are put into a brooder—a glass-covered play-yard—where there is food and drink for them to grow strong on, and where a temperature of 90 degrees is maintained the first week, then lessened to 80 degrees until finally the artificial heat is dis-pensated with.

Electricity Heats Incubator.

Electricity for heating incubators is asserted to be most economical. A regulating apparatus turns off the current when the temperature rises, and it is declared a sixteen-candle-power light will furnish enough heat to hatch

twelve dozen eggs, and it will be necessary for the current to be turned on only about half the time. More than one business man in Chicago has hatched out chickens in his office with the old lamp method and will be glad to learn of the electric hen.

It will also be available for laboratory use in schools.—Chicago Tribune.

TO GET WASHINGTON'S ESTATE.
Brazelton Family of Texas Among Heirs of First President.

Weatherford, Tex., Jan. 25.—The Brazelton family, of this city, heirs of George Washington, first president of the United States, will soon receive part of an estate of 40,000 acres, valued at $1,000,000, in the Cler-mont district, Ohio, according to a message received today from Washington, D. C. There are three Brazel-ton brothers here—J. W. Brazelton, a banker; H. F. Brazelton, a physician, and R. L. Brazelton, a farmer.

Georgia relatives will also receive a share in the estate. Washington, having no children, left the Ohio estate to his nephew, General Nathaniel Greene, and his niece, Hannah Greene. Jacob Brazelton, grandfather of the Texas heirs, married Hannah Greene.
